DETAILED ACTION

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mrs. Ye Ren on 5/12/2009.

The application has been amended as follows:

Please amend claim 13 lines 2 and 3: add "using a processor to do the following steps; " after the word comprising and before the word providing.

Please amend claim 20 line 1: delete the words "unit adapted to" and add the word "system to" after the word refining and before the word modifying.

Also on line 5 delete the word some and add the word "one" after the words at least and before the word current .

Please amend claim 26 line 5 please delete the word " unit" and add the word system between refining and of claim 20

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 13,17-20,25 and 26 are allowed (now renumbered 1-7).

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: After reviewing the remarks made by the Applicant in response to the non-final office action the Examiner finds the remarks to be persuasive. The most pertinent prior art is Schmitt et al (US 2003/0108154) and Takasawa et al (US 6542579). Schmitt clearly teaches the selection device modifies the image that is read out dependent on an input of a device parameter undertaken at the operating device before the modified image is displayed at the display device. This offers the advantage that the integrated help function of the inventive examination apparatus is fashioned especially true-to-life. Compared to a procedure wherein different images would also be stored for different settings of a device parameter, there is also the advantage of a lower memory capacity. As a result of the input of the device parameter being accomplished in the image, the operator is provided with an impression of what would be produced in the examination result given an actual drive of the examination apparatus with this device parameter. Therefore, Schmitt et ka teaches the standard images which gives an impression of the expected x-ray image on the basis of capture parameter settings which do not give an impression of the result of an image processing step. Takasawa et al. discloses the operation screen that includes a message area 120, an image display area 121, an object information display area 118, a photo-taking condition display area 119, and various setting keys. The setting keys are: a patient (object) information dialogue call key 122 for calling a patient information input dialogue; photo-taking region keys 125 for inputting a photo-taking region; body type keys 124 for inputting the body type of a patient; a photo-taking termination key 126 to be pressed when photo-taking for each object to be examined is completed; a photo-taking parameter change key 123 for changing set photo-taking conditions or image processing parameters; and a setting key 127 for performing various settings.

Art Unit: 2624

Neither Schmitt nor Takasawa discloses : a standard parameter sets from which a current parameter set is chosen and selecting at least some standard parameter sets from a plurality, of available standard parameter sets; and forming a current parameter set from the selected standard parameter sets, wherein when a parameter set comprises a two-dimensional matrix of parameters law ($id = 1, 2, 3, \dots$), then a current parameter set p_{akt} is formed of a linear combination of selected standard parameter sets $p_{Nr.l}$ ($l = k_1, k_2, \dots$, with $k_1, k_2 \in \{1, 2, \dots, K\}$) from the plurality of available standard parameter sets $p_{Nr.k}$ ($k = 1, 2, \dots, K$), and

, wherein $p_{Nr.l}$ represents a parameter P_{ij} in a selected standard parameter set $p_{Nr.l}$ wherein p_{tiakt} represents a parameter P_{ti} in a current parameter set p_{akt} wherein a summation defined by said equation extends through each of the selected standard parameter sets $p_{Nr.l}$ ($l = k_1, k_2, \dots$), where a_j represents a weighting factor of the selected standard parameter set $p_{Nr.l}$ and wherein each weighting factor a_j is a number whose value ranges from a value of zero to a value of one, and wherein a sum of all weighting factors a_j ($l = k_1, k_2, \dots$) yields a value of 1. The Examiner finds no reason or motivation to combine the above references in an obviousness rejection thus placing the application in condition for allowance.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
